The Misses Pettit and Pickett, Yale teachers, gave a slumber party Saturday night in their rooms at Mrs. R. H. Menerey's with several of their fellow teachers as guests. Needless to say, a good time was had.

The union religious services of the churches of Yale are proving most satisfactory. Both the service at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening, January 27th, and the service at the Methodist Protestant church Sunday evening, Feb. 3, were largely attended, showing that this plan meets with the approval of every denomination.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jackson went to Port Huron on Wednesday morning, where Mrs. Jackson joined a cousin from Ontario, and journeyed on to St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will spend the balance of the winter with Mrs. James McCall, of Yale, who has a cottage there. Mr. Jackson returned Wednesday night and is at the old job of bucking snow and cold weather.—Croswell Jeffersonian.

A half dozen friends of Jas. Welch assembled at his home on South Main street Monday night and were treated to a bean soup supper. The meal was very palatable, everyone had his fill and the balance of the evening until eleven o'clock was spent at cards. Mrs. Welch is at Flint visiting relatives and Mr. Welch gets lonesome at times and he enjoys having his friends drop in on him for a visit. Jim is some cook, especially when it comes to bean soup.

Candlemas day, last Saturday, February 2nd, was a beautifully bright, fair day. Any other day we would have welcomed the sunshine, but our superstitious ideas led us to hope that this day would be one of clouds, obscuring the sun's face, so that the ground hog might not see his shadow when he ventured out to find how the war was going or for any other reason. But his shadow was there in all its terrifying bigness and Mister Groundhog scurried back to his six weeks' more of retirement. However this may be one time when the lie will be given an old superstition. We wait in hope.

...Yale Pride Flour...

made into raisin bread is one of the most tasty and nutritious foods that can be placed before growing Young America.

Wheat is a white man's food and one of his staples, but fickle childhood sometimes wants a change, and you'll find the above a good one.

Its lower price easily puts it in the economical class, which will please the bread winner, also. Mother will be pleased because all the others are.
